Dear Dean Doe,

On July 20, 2008, the UNL Creative Writing Club (CWC) sent seven students to the Sewanee Writer’s Conference in Sewanee, TN. With the help of your generous donation, CWC was able to reduce the personal cost of attendance to less than $500.00 of the $1,500.00 fee. Conference attendants were able to devote two weeks to honing their craft in "remoteness without cultural dislocation." As a token of our gratitude, we are pleased to share with you the enclosed book of work by conference attendees here at UNL.

We truly believe in enhancing the campus community and student achievement through diverse and exciting events related to creative writing. Without your donation such accomplishments would not be possible. Thank you for your generous support! Please contact me by phone at 402-555-1111 or by email at janestudent@huskers.unl.edu if you have any questions about your donation or CWC.

Sincerely,

Jane Q. Student
President, UNL Creative Writing Club
